

A Day without Freedom

By Bob Boucher June, 2012

A day without freedom
Ask Rodney King.

Five years without freedom
Ask John McCain.

Twenty Seven years without freedom?
Ask Nelson Mandela.

Let not those iron bars imprison your soul.
Let them have your rags and bones
but keep your mind your very own.

A body crucified with thorn and nail,
a mind imprisoned yet soul set free yields not one inch to tyranny.

Freedom is a blessing to be always cherished religiously.
